Attend an IBP Trade Show in the USA

Trade shows are crucial to business-to-business and business-to-consumer marketers around the world. Nearly 450 major trade shows are held each year in the U.S., and they draw some 120 million visitors.

Attending a U.S. trade show gives international business people an opportunity to meet face-to-face with those who are most likely to share industry information or become buying and selling partners.

Trade shows generate information. Education sessions and professional conferences are an increasingly important component of U.S. trade shows.

Trade shows generate sales. The Center for Exhibition Industry Research reports that leads developed at trade shows are three or four times more likely to become sales than leads developed through field sales calls. International companies responding to recent surveys report that 70% of their annual sales were generated at international trade events.

About 40 U.S. trade shows are selected each year by the U.S. Department of Commerce to participate in the International Buyer Program (IBP). IBP-designated shows provide excellent opportunities to meet motivated U.S. exporters. Each year, the IBP recruits more than 125,000 qualified international buyers, sales representatives, and business executives to join delegations to U.S. shows.

A complete list of IBP shows is available online at www.export.gov/ibp. If you are interested in joining a delegation to an IBP show, you can find contact information for the U.S. Commercial Service office in your country at www.buyusa.gov.

In addition to featuring trade shows, this issue of Commercial News USA includes hundreds of U.S. companies seeking buyers, distributors or partners. Contact them directly or use the Reader Service form on Page 39.

Conference: June 14-20; Show: June 18-20, 2008 in Las Vegas

International Visitors from 90 Countries Expected at InfoComm '08

InfoComm is the leading business-to-business marketplace for display, projection, audio, conferencing, lighting and staging, digital signage, Internet streaming and networked presentation and communications systems. Held in the North and Central Halls of the Las Vegas Convention Center, the conference will take place June 14-20, 2008, the exposition on June 18-20.

The conference will include more than 250 courses, basic through advanced levels, covering audio, video, projection, digital signage, design, certification, conferencing, AV-IT integration, and much more. The exposition will feature more than 900 exhibitors from the leading audiovisual manufacturers and service providers.

Attending InfoComm's trade show is a valuable investment in both time and money," said Randal A. Lemke, Ph.D., Executive Director, InfoComm International. "In just a few days, you can visit the most comprehensive array of professional audio, digital signage, display, conferencing, lighting, control system and signal distribution technology manufacturers available in one location, all while receiving world-class education and training from leading experts and manufacturers."

Although InfoComm is large, it is easy to navigate, thanks to pavilions that bring similar technologies together. Audio, Digital Signage, Lighting and Staging, and United Collaborative Conferencing are just a few of the pavilions featuring integrated solutions from innovative manufacturers. Many special exhibits on the show floor, such as the Large Venue Display Gallery, can only be seen at InfoComm.

infoComm08
INFORMATION COMMUNICATIONS MARKETPLACE

InfoComm '07, held in Anaheim, California, was the biggest tradeshow in the history of the industry with more than 31,000 attendees visiting 861 exhibitors occupying 496,000 net square feet of paid exhibits, special events and demo meeting space. InfoComm '08 is anticipated to be another record breaker.

InfoComm is attended by visitors from more than 90 countries. The Show is supported by the U.S. Department of Commerce International Buyers Program (IBP). During the show, trade specialists from the Commercial Service will be managing the International Business Center (IBC) and the U.S. Export Pavilion. In the IBC, buyers and sellers come together, using the meeting rooms provided free of charge on a first come, first served basis, and taking advantage of the facility to plan their visits to the exhibit floor. Please visit your U.S. embassy or consulate to find out more about this program, as there may be an opportunity to join a delegation from your country.

Attendees from around the world can make the most of their time in the U.S. by attending NXTcomm, located in the South Hall of the Las Vegas Convention Center, at the same time. The co-owned tradeshow by the Telecommunications Industry Association (TIA) and the United States Telecom Association (USTelecom), which targets premier information and communications technology suppliers, is taking place June 17-19. InfoComm visitors may access the NXTcomm show floor free, and vice-versa. Don't miss this opportunity to visit with more than 1,350 exhibitors at InfoComm and NXTcomm.

AAPEX 2008, November 4-6, 2008, in Las Vegas

AAPEX Is the Meeting Place for Global Automotive Aftermarket

Where do professionals in the automotive aftermarket go to see the latest new products, learn about industry trends, and network with top executives and colleagues from around the globe? The resounding answer is AAPEX, the Automotive Aftermarket Products Expo.

AAPEX is the world's largest business-to-business event for the $268 billion global automotive aftermarket industry. In 2008, AAPEX will take place Nov. 4-6 at the Sands Expo Center, Las Vegas, Nevada, USA. It will be co-located with the SEMA Show, which is held the same week at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

The two events make up Automotive Aftermarket Industry Week (AAIW) and are attended by more than 115,000 professionals from approximately 150 countries. As part of AAIW, AAPEX is certified by the U.S. Department of Commerce as an International Buyer Program (IBP) event.

Participation in the IBP means that AAPEX goes above and beyond to accommodate the needs of its international guests. An onsite Center for International Commerce (CIC) has computerized product and exporter locator services, interpreters and private meeting spaces, as well as credit card, telephone and fax services. Representatives from the U.S. Department of Commerce and association trade specialists are in the CIC and available for consultation.

In 2007, nearly 40 official international buying delegations traveled to Las Vegas as part of the IBP. International visitors interested in being part of an official delegation to the 2008 AAPEX should contact the commercial specialist for the automotive sector in their local embassy or consulate.

When attending AAPEX, buyers usually first visit the exciting trade show that features more than 2,000 exhibitors and nearly 5,000 stands displaying globally recognized brands and cutting edge technology. Every brand of replacement part is on display at AAPEX and a tool and equipment section houses more than 150 companies.

Throughout the exhibit hall are new product demonstrations, interactive displays and many special guest appearances by well known racing celebrities. In 2007, the Green Zone—an area to highlight environmentally friendly products and services—made its debut at AAPEX and received a tremendous response from buyers and exhibitors.

Lining the entryway of the show are the New Product and New Packaging showcases that are a favorite stopping place among buyers. These showcases display more than 400 of the latest product innovations and packaging trends.

In addition to the trade show, the AAPEX educational program includes more than 15 sessions on a range of topics such as global aftermarket and consumer buying trends, hybrid vehicle technology, profitability, satisfying customers and developing partnerships.

As for networking, AAPEX is among the best. It regularly attracts buyers from nearly every industry segment including manufacturers, wholesalers, warehouse distributors, jobbers, retailers, independent service providers, technicians, parts stores, manufacturers' reps, exporters, importers and packagers.

Equally exciting is that it all takes place in Las Vegas, the entertainment capital of the world. There's always plenty to see and do in Vegas including the casinos, shows, fine dining and shopping.

AAPEX registration opens in March 2008 on the AAPEX Web site, www.AAPEXShow.com. Registration is provided in several languages including English, French, German, Japanese, Chinese, Spanish and Portuguese. Housing can also be done online. Buyers are reminded to start the visa application process early. The AAPEX Web site has a link to the State Department, which has specific information regarding visas.

The Automotive Aftermarket Industry Association (AAIA) and the Motor & Equipment Manufacturers Association (MEMA) sponsor AAPEX.

The National Restaurant Show 2008, May 17-20, 2008

Restaurant, Hotel, Catering Innovation Starts at NRA 2008

International visitors and buyers from 115 nations will join 74,000 colleagues and peers at the National Restaurant Association (NRA) Show 2008, May 17-20 at Chicago's McCormick Place.

NRA 2008 – the world's premier showcase for restaurant, hotel, and catering products, services, and equipment – will feature an exciting exhibit floor, informative education sessions, and networking events where professionals can share innovative ideas and industry best practices.

The 2008 show extends a particularly warm welcome to international visitors. At the International Reception on Saturday evening, guests can make profitable contacts with senior executives of U.S. companies in a relaxed setting. Throughout the week, they can also take advantage of The International Trade Center for private meetings, translation services, and matchmaking; The International Back-of-the-House Tours, half-day adventure trips into the city's most successful restaurants (for registered international guests only); and more than 60 programs taught by industry experts that focus on marketing, sales, operations, technology, and services.

With 2,100 exhibitors, the show floor at NRA 2008 will be an event unto itself where visitors can watch – and sometimes participate in – product demonstrations, meet U.S. suppliers and

*“This is absolutely fabulous.
This is the biggest show in the industry,
probably on the planet,
and it's very exciting to be a part of it”*

– Steve Raichlen, award-winning author, journalist, cooking teacher, and TV host.

manufacturers, learn about the newest technologies and equipment, share ideas that lower costs and build profits, sample new food and beverage products, and arrange one-on-one meetings.

Special pavilions will abound at NRA 2008 to help attendees and buyers identify the hottest trends from around the world. They'll include:

- The American Food Fair – regional specialties from around the U.S.
- The 2008 Culinary Event – including celebrity chefs and demonstrations
- The Kitchen Innovations Pavilion – a showcase of commercial kitchen equipment
- The Franchise Pavilion – a meetingplace for franchise professionals
- The Technology Pavilion – focusing on restaurant POS systems, wireless technologies, and customer relations management
- The International Cuisine Pavilion – featuring traditional foods and beverages
- The Edge Pavilion – a source of ideas in furniture, design, lighting, and graphics.

International visitors should follow these steps to plan their trip to the NRA Show 2008 show in Chicago: Register online. Reserve a room with a special NRA discount. Download a letter of invitation. Identify the exhibitors you most want to meet. Review the education sessions and plan your schedule.

The Largest Technical Textiles Show in the Americas

Whether you are planning to make a purchasing decision, source new suppliers and products, update yourself on the latest industry developments, network with industry members from around the world, or participate in the market-specific educational symposiums, IFAI Expo 2008 is a “must-attend” event. More than 450 leading suppliers will exhibit, and 8,000 registered participants are expected at the Charlotte Convention Center.

IFAI Expo 2008 is one of only 28 trade shows to receive the prestigious International Buyer Program designation by the U.S. Department of Commerce. DOC offices will mobilize worldwide to organize delegations of visitors to the show. “We are very honored that IFAI Expo 2008 has received the IBP designation for a second time,” says IFAI President Stephen M. Warner. “This recognizes the excellent opportunities available through IFAI Expo 2008 to the world specialty fabric community. The IBP designation is a proven value in bringing in international buyers to our show.”

International companies exhibit at IFAI Expo, according to Todd Lindemann, vice president of IFAI Conference Management, “because it is the largest technical textiles trade exhibition in the Americas. For more than 90 years IFAI Expo has been the reigning international show representing the world’s largest market for our industry’s products.”

IFAI also hosts a lively reception for international visitors to network with specialty fabrics professionals from around the world. For assistance in registration, housing, and visa applications, contact Registration and Sales Coordinator Tracie Coopet at +1-651-222-2508 (tkcoopet@ifai.com) or visit www.ifaexpo.com and select the “International Visitors” section.

Advanced BioTech

Improve All Soils, Plants and Crops with New Bioenrichment Products

Soil is the most valuable asset for farming operations. The "One of a Kind" bioenhancement technology from Advanced BioTech improves all soils in the short term and for future generations. The modern formulations in the MultiFIX™ line of products enrich soils and maximize crop production. This innovative thinking has revolutionized the science of farming by bringing soils to an alive and healthy condition. Billions of active, beneficial soil microbes rejuvenate and build soils for better root structures and healthy, rapidly growing plants. The result is nutritious, high yielding crops with superior quality, taste and value with fewer pests and less disease in soils and plants. It has been proven effective by scientific research and growers worldwide from clay to sand on virtually every type of crop. We are seeking large farmers, co-ops, distributors and agents.
